

DeputyDome™ Installation for Murfreesboro Housing Authority

The Murfreesboro Housing Authority operates four projects in that small middle Tennessee city. As with many such developments, drugs and crime began to creep in and disturb the peace. In 1995 the MHA formed a partnership with the Murfreesboro Police to begin to take back the neighborhood. The police first suggested using surveillance cameras to help fight crimes, and to provide evidence. Videolarm's bullet-resistant camera was chosen and the system has been a rousing success.

In the early 1990's Franklin Heights residents were subjected to violent crime and out-in-the-open drug sales. Videolarm's first bullet-resistant camera, the BMF27, was installed at the complex in 1996. The camera has been a critical component in making the Franklin Heights safe again.

The new generation of bullet-resistant cameras, the DeputyDome™, was installed in 1999 at Highland Heights. Crime reduction was almost immediate.

Officials are using one of the four bedroom units as their Social Service Building. It includes a Police Precinct where officers monitor activity in the complex.

As part of the entire community rebuilding project, the Housing Authority offers a pre-school and is building a recreation center.
